Subject: Microsoft Settlement

As a small businessperson involved in the specification and development of computer software for businesses of all sizes, on a regular basis I find the need to integrate solutions utilizing software from a variety of vendors, including Microsoft. Because of this I've found that solutions from Microsoft's competitors are evaluated and selected just as often as those from Microsoft, at least by the customers I support.

Although I have disagreed with the antitrust suit from the beginning, I support Microsoft's position on the settlement, believe it is fair and good for all involved.
